was very hot, I was wearing top hat, black tie and my tail coat. I was tired from the intense preparations of the preceding two or three days, but I haven't felt better or enjoyed myself more in years. Everything was coming off like clockwork. I was almost giddy with joy. I went over and gave Suchnick a copy of the program (which I typed and Xeroxed at the News on Sunday morning) and also a copy to the lady who lives in the house on Robinson Avenue on the left at the intersection of Robinson Avenue and Cemetery Street. She got dressed and attended the program. I attached flags to the Robinson Avenue gate and stayed near that gate to greet the people. The ceremony was attended by about 40 people, namely:
